

The National Science Foundation requires that all undergraduate, graduate or post doctoral scholars funded by or cost-shared to a NSF-sponsored research project complete the Responsible Conduct of Research training.

If you have any students funded by or cost-shared to your NSF-sponsored study, check that option and fill out the information below about your study. Then return this signed form with the training completion certificate(s) to the Office of Research & Economic Development.

If you do not have any students funded by or cost-shared to your NSF-sponsored study, check that option and fill out the information below about your study. Then return this signed form to the Office of Research & Economic Development.
